

Give Them a Sea Voyage

THIS season of the year one recalls the voyage of the Mayflower, which brought seekers of freedom to these shores. It is time for a return trip, bearing enemies of freedom from the same shores.

Emma Goldman, Alexander Berkman and others of the breed have received their discharges and are out of uniform. They served "duration" terms in safe places, safe for them and safe for us, and the uniform they wore was not O. D. or Navy Blue. The Government speaks of deporting the Reds it locked up during the war. What we want to see is the names of these undesirables on an early sailing schedule.

The Goldman-Berkman firm will need company when it goes. It was unduly deprived of congenial association in jail. Thousands of their ilk ran around loose during the war, and while 4,800,000 Americans were in the fighting forces and the vision of the nation was fixed on the war, they were sowing their seeds of destruction and anarchy and laying the fires which they hope may make a Russia of the United States. They are not much of a menace in view of the new Americanism. But they are a beastly nuisance.

Blast the crop. Stamp out the fires which already are being lighted. Run the Reds out from the land whose flag they sully. Cleanse the country of the skulkers whose insane ambition is to wreck it.
